

Abstract

The present invention relates to a hybrid energy source (current/voltage source), wherein a fuel cell device and an energy storing device, e.g. a battery and/or a capacitor, are directly 5 interconnected in parallel.